Components & Radicals 汉字偏旁部首	(SCH) zuì = the most	(TCH) zuì = the most
^{mào} 月 → ^{yuē} 日 = a hat	最	最
^{ěr} 耳 + ^{yòu} 又 = ^{qǔ} 取 = to take or get sth. with a hand
Note: The ancient form of 最 combines 月 (a hat) and 取 (to take), depicting a hand lifting a hat from a man's head. However, 最 is no longer used as a verb in modern Chinese. Instead, it commonly appears before verbs or adjectives to express the superlative meaning, as in 最爱、最喜欢、最美 and 最好. A useful visual mnemonic is that the hat rests at the highest point of the body, helping learners associate 最 with "the most."
